“ Joyce, Casey, and Corey,
It was so much fun living next door to you folks for so many years. I remember Dad and Mike comparing their tomato crop out back. Many laughs between our homes. Mike will be sorely missed. I still have the shelves he made up in our home for a wedding gift you gave us. I love them. Mom's Angel figurines sit on one of the shelves. How fitting. Our prayers and love to you all.

Mike and Peg (Wilmot) Angus and boys.

“ They are a few memories I have of Mr. Kirkpatrick. Captain Kirk, as we members of Troop 104, called him. The one is the last time I saw him. He asked what I was doing with my life? How things had been? And we stood in Price Chopper for a good ten minutes just catching up. It had been a few years, between work and my misadventures of attempting to finish my degree, and some difficult things health wise, and he was upbeat. Encouraging.
